Description

The Classic Memory Coil Bed brings to you the best of two types of mattress, the top layer is made from visco-elastic (Memory foam) and the bottom layer is made from a traditional open coil spring system. Together the two systems provide you with a surface that reacts to your body temperature and weight to mould itself around you while giving you an even weight distribution across the mattress. The advanced features of this mattress help your blood to flow and circulate freely giving a restful nights sleep.
